

How to Use Acrobat Full-Text Search

All of the documents on this CD are searchable via the Acrobat 4.0 search and query tool. In order to invoke search and query in Acrobat:

1. Click on Edit/Search/Query. At this point you will be presented an Adobe Acrobat Search dialogue box.
2. Click on Indexes. You will be presented an Index Selection dialogue box.
3. Click on Add. You will be presented an Add Index dialogue box. At this point, use the dialogue box browser to navigate to the CD. Select the index.pdx file on the CD and click OPEN. This will enable the index to be searched. Note: you only have to add this index once. The next time you insert the CD Acrobat will remember it.
4. Enter your character string and begin the search.
5. When your Search Results are presented, click View to go to the desired reference. Note: in order to get the Search Results box to re-appear, hold down CTRL + SHIFT and hit G.

Note: only the first instance of the search string will be displayed within a document. In order to search for further instances, use the Edit/Find function in Acrobat. Find Again is evoked by CTRL + G.

If you have any problems using the Acrobat search and query tool, there is an excellent on-line help function accessed by clicking on Help.
